A note from our committee:

On only one day out of the year, a special event takes place in almost every country in the world. It has been part of the Scottish culture for over 200 years where men and women get to dress up formally and meet up with descendents and lovers of Scotland, for a gastro-literary celebration of the life and works of the poet Robert Burns. It is an event that transcends time, geographical borders, political and religious beliefs, to bring people together in a traditional Scottish feast. We are delighted to inform you that the Caledonian Society of Arizona formally invites you to our very own Burns Supper on 28th January 2012. This year we have spared no expense to provide you with:

- ❖ High quality traditional Scottish menu (including a toast to and proper service of the Haggis)
- ❖ Imported fine Scottish beer and whisky.
- ❖ Live band playing Scottish tunes and songs and of course our Scottish dancers
- ❖ Lovely ballroom setting and location

This is a time to mingle with old friends and find some new ones. We have put great effort this year into making this evening a truly traditional and fun evening. The evening will progress true to traditional Burns Supper traditions with pipers, toasts, jokes, poetry readings, dinner, all interspersed with music and conversation. Hopefully that, along with the good vibes and 16 year old whisky, will be all the encouragement anyone will need to lower their inhibitions to a level that Burns, himself, would appreciate.

Robert Burns Supper ~ Why we do it!

- ❖ Bring Scots lovers and descendents together
- ❖ Celebrate the words and passion of Robert Burns
- ❖ Bring back the spirit of our ancestors by eating the same food and listening to the same music (and perchance a wee nip of the water of life).
- ❖ Strengthen our small but friendly Scottish community
- ❖ Have a rare legitimate excuse to wear our kilts
- ❖ Remind us that life is interesting
